SCHOOLS TO CLOSE

LOCAL TEACHERS' VACATION
DURING INSTITUTE WEEK AT SAN DIEGO NOV. 8-15

All the schools in Glendale, including the High School, will be closed during the week Nov. 8-15. The reason for this vacation is that the teachers may have an opportunity to attend the Teachers' Institute, which meets in San Diego at that time. Formerly the Teachers' Institute was held the week before Christmas. That gave the scholars and teachers a two-weeks' vacation. This year it has been thought best to separate the two vacations and thus afford a double break in the routine of study.

It is quite possible that this Institute vacation may include Monday, Nov. 15. On that date the famous Liberty Bell is to be in Los Angeles and it is likely that the Glendale children will be afforded the opportunity of seeing that national relic. The Los Angeles schools are to be given a half holiday on that date and it is probable that the Glendale schools will be given the whole day. Principal White is taking the matter up with the Board.

Principal R. D. White says, "The total enrollment in all the schools has increased and there is a marked growth in the interest that is being taken in the various activities of the schools. In the Intermediate school Miss Wetherby, supervisor of music, for all the primary schools, has organized a very presentable orchestra of twelve pieces. The children are enthusiastic in their practice and are making excellent progress in ensemble playing. It is hoped to have this orchestra in such shape that it will soon be able to take part in school exercises on public occasions.

"Quite a new idea has been introduced in the drawing departments. In the department of mechanical drawing the boys are being taught to make drawings to scale and from these drawings various articles in woodwork will afterward be made. This gives the drawings a practical value that is certain to prove of great value to the students.

"In the girls' sewing classes, in similar manner, a connection is formed with the classes of mechanical drawing. The girls make drawings to scale of the designs they are to carry out in sewing work. This is effective and apparently has a very real attraction for the pupils."

JUDGE SUSPENDS SENTENCE

After an exhaustive trial which involved the examination of several witnesses and conflicting testimony on the part of some of those testifying, Judge Whomes inflicted a fine of $3.00, and suspended the sentence, on Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, who was charged with having violated the traffic ordinance of Glendale by cutting corners in her automobile and standing her car on the wrong side of the street. Mr. Mattison B. Jones defended Mrs. Jones. Patrolman Hollenbeck testified as to the circumstances accompanying the breach of the ordinance.

Among other societies the Baraca Class is feeling the stir of new life. This class now numbers 55 members and is the largest young men's class in the city. The president is F. J. Mathiesen and the teacher Prof. A. W. Tower.

FIREMEN AT FEAST

W. H. EASTON OF JEWEL CITY
RESTAURANT ENTERTAINS
FIRE BOYS AT OYSTER SUPPER

When the Glendale firemen entered on the contest to secure the piano offered by the Southern California Music Company, W. H. Easton, proprietor of the Jewel City Restaurant, promised to give them an oyster supper if they should win. They won and Mr. Easton fulfilled his promise by inviting the boys and a few friends of the department to a substantial supper Wednesday night. Those present were: Mr. A. H. Lankford, fire chief; Emil Schroeder, George Brewster, Walter Eves, George Potter, Emil Keifer, Joe Olivas, Charles Potter, Clyde St. Clair and Jesse Flower, firemen; Chief of Police Herald, Patrolman E. A. Laurence, and Patrolman H. W. Hollenbeck. Mr. A. T. Cowan, proprietor of The Glendale Evening News, and Mr. H. P. Coker of The Valley Supply company. Oysters in various styles, with other accompaniments and ice cream furnished a pleasing feast, which was much appreciated by the boys.

Mr. H. P. Coker in a brief but significant address told of the important part the fire department plays in the life of the city. He urged the boys to work to the best of their ability, suggesting that though they were only volunteers at present faithful work would put them in line for promotion in the regular service either in Glendale or elsewhere. He urged them to save their money and wait their opportunity.

Mr. A. T. Cowan, speaking of the spirit that animated the fire department, said that their activity was well displayed when they entered into the recent contest for the piano offered by the Southern California Music company. The energy they manifested in that competition, he said, was characteristic of their whole attitude toward their work and toward the community, which had every confidence in their faithfulness and ability.

Mr. George Brewster entertained the company with a number of Irish stories that smacked of the "ould sod" and were received with much hilarious applause.

Chief Lankford thanked Mr. Easton for his hospitality and recognition of the department. He also thanked the boys for their co-operation with him since he had been appointed fire chief and praised them for their devotion to their duties and for their efficiency.

Chief Herald spoke of the faithfulness of the fire boys while he was head of the department. He stated that he had had opportunity to examine the work of all the prominent fire departments in the cities of Los Angeles county and that he had no hesitation in saying that Glendale was equal to any of them in alertness and efficiency.

Patrolmen Laurence and Hollenbeck made appropriate speeches professing the willingness of the police to co-operate with the fire department at all times. After a pleasant symposium on local affairs the party broke up.

INSTALLS MEAT SLICER

Mr. W. M. Shaw, proprietor of the meat store in connection with The White Store, 1110 W. Broadway, has installed a Dayton Meat Slicer, which will prove a great labor saver in his business. This ingenious machine is fitted with a revolving knife. The flywheel revolves 3 1/4 times to each turn of the crank, and by means of three cogs, this motion is imparted to the knife, causing it to revolve 31 and a fraction times to every turn of the crank. Accurate adjustment of different kinds of meat on different kinds of carriers brings the art of slicing the various meats to a point of perfection. It is possible to cut each slice to the same degree of thinness or thickness and to cut just as much as makes the weight desired. When not in demand the various meats on their various carriers can be hung up in the refrigerator. An ingenious adjustment of an emery wheel sharpens the circular knife.

EIGHTY-SEVEN YEARS OLD

Mrs. W. F. Wood, 500 E. Third street, entertained 25 ladies of the Baptist Church Saturday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Sarah C. Field, 239 S. Kenwood street, who attained on that date her 87th birthday. Mrs. Field is mother of the Rev. F. A. Field, 239 S. Kenwood, and is the oldest member of the First Baptist Church of Glendale. A large birthday cake with 87 lighted candles was a feature of the occasion. Dainty refreshments were served and games and fancywork helped to pass a very pleasant afternoon.

WIZARD OF POWER

THOMAS EDISON'S VISIT TO LOS ANGELES RECALLS ACHIEVEMENTS OF INVENTOR

Thomas Edison, the Wizard of Electricity, the man whom the nations delight to honor, is visiting the Pacific coast. He was expected to arrive in Los Angeles Wednesday night. There he was to be met by a deputation of the Chamber of Commerce and taken on a sightseeing trip by the foothills, through Pasadena and Glendale to Universal City and Hollywood. Unfortunately the Edison party did not arrive in Los Angeles Wednesday, as when the train from San Francisco, by which he was traveling, reached Santa Barbara, he got out with his party and motored the rest of the way.

Mr. J. A. Lighthipe, the electrical engineer of the Edison Company in Los Angeles, is assisting to look after the arrangements. Mr. Lighthipe was working with Edison at the time the inventor perfected the first electrical lamp ever known.

All the Pacific coast has united to honor Edison during his visit. While the inventor was in San Francisco the 36th anniversary of the invention of the electrical lamp occurred. That was on Oct. 21, 1879. The anniversary was celebrated in San Francisco by a dinner given by all the prominent electrical men to the inventor.

Speaking of this anniversary, Harry B. Lynch, manager of Glendale Public Service department, said: "I was invited to attend the banquet in honor of Edison, given by the electrical engineers of the Los Angeles district, Thursday, Oct. 21, at Christopher's, Los Angeles. Had Edison been there he would have received an ovation. Unfortunately he was in San Francisco. In memory of the wonderful invention of the electrical incandescent lamp, the work of Edison 36 years ago, each person present was presented with a facsimile of the original lamp. Here it is. You see it contains everything that is present on the modern 'Mazda' lamp. Everything essential is there. Of course the filament is carbon.

"Edison invented the present socket for the lamp the next year—so that with a very few changes the present lamp was actually complete 35 years ago. At that time Edison was a successful inventor. He was making money from his inventions and he deserves credit for his application of his wonderful native genius.

"Everywhere Edison is respected and honored. The United States has produced many men whom it has delighted to honor as a nation, but very few men whom other nations have honored and whose names are as well known abroad as at home. His discoveries in multiplex telegraphy revolutionized that branch of electrical science. He invented the moving picture machine and the phonograph. His storage battery is in use everywhere.

"It is significant of the type of mind that Edison possesses that three weeks after the announcement of the discovery of the Roentgen rays, Edison came out with a practical invention to make use of them, making possible the photographing of inner structures such as the bones. In short Edison is one of the world's greatest geniuses and his practical mind has done more for the world than the exploits of those who slay their tens of thousands."

INTER-CLASS DEBATES

The Seniors and Sophomores defeated the Juniors and Freshmen yesterday afternoon. Great interest was shown in all the debates, even the Freshmen brimming over with enthusiasm. The subject under discussion was government ownership of American Merchant Shipping.

The two Senior teams, Kathryn Green, Frank Bridgeford, Joseph Maier and Mervyn Mills, won over their Junior opponents, Edward Seay, Charlotte Davis, William Dew and Hylas Holt. The judges were Dr. Snudden, Mr. Joy, Mr. Houdyshe, Miss Knepper, Miss Terry and Miss Flood.

In the under classes Marion Lehman, Roberta Rosa, Herbert Scheuer and Harlan Durand of the Sophomore class won both debates over James McCluskey, Everett Bartlett, Fred Wilson and Harold Russell of the Freshmen class. The judges were Mrs. Hutchinson, Rev. Francis, Rev. Willisford, Mr. Ludden, Mr. Ferguson and Miss Poppy. The visiting judges expressed much appreciation of the efforts of the young debaters. Tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 the championship debate between the Seniors and Sophomores will take place. The debating banner and places for the Faries trophy are at stake.

There is more knowledge to be gained by traveling than by reading.

HERALDS OF LIBERTY

THE COMPANY THAT PUT "LIFE" IN LIFE INSURANCE

Through his forceful explanations of this entirely new life insurance plan of the Heralds of Liberty, Alfred C. LeBaron, who is in town representing that company, is meeting with much success. Men and women have come to understand that the matter of buying insurance is too serious to be considered lightly and the copyrighted plan of this company, which is entirely out of the ordinary, is so simple when Mr. LeBaron once explains it, that it can be easily understood by any one.

It is certainly the most wonderful plan of life insurance that has ever been brought to our attention, although this company has been and is now writing tremendous volumes of business throughout most of the eastern states, and during its three years here in California, its business has grown rapidly.

What makes its unique plan so particularly attractive and immensely popular is the fact that it does what no other Life company does—it pays into your own hands the full amount of its policies while you live, which it has been doing in an average time of less than five years.

The only difference, it seems to us, between this Heralds of Liberty's plan of insurance and the old line companies is that this company, in the payment of its death and living claims, distributes its surplus accumulations to the living, instead of piling up millions of dollars of reserve which is kept by the companies, excepting a small part of the interest it earns on it, over 3 or 4 per cent.

Mr. LeBaron informs us that this company is the only one in the United States that does or can operate this remarkable plan, which, through its operation, pays its policies while you live and also if you die, which, to our mind, is emphasizing what genuine life insurance should be and ought to be, so that the man living can get something out of it himself.

For a great many years life insurance protection was sold as a sort of temporary matter; that is to say, the company or society whose rates were lowest got the business, irrespective of any further consideration. Insurance along with every other line of business has come to a different basis. There is no longer a desire on the part of the people to buy the very cheapest offering. Attention is being paid to the scientific side of insurance. The above is not an advertisement for the Heralds of Liberty, or any other company, but is merely to remind those who have not provided for the family one way or another in case of death, that of all human emotions none is quite so nerve-racking and so completely debilitating as despair, and what despair can equal that of the helpless woman who, maybe in the very prime of life, is left without means to undertake the burden that falls upon the shoulders of the head of the family? No man who is able to support a family is too poor to carry a reasonable amount of insurance. If you can't pay the premium how's your wife going to pay the rent?

LACANADA IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

The fortnightly meeting of the LaCanada Improvement association was held in LaCanada hall, Saturday evening, October 23. The meeting was presided over by Rev. E. H. Brooks, president, with Mr. F. H. Granger serving as secretary. The musical program was conducted under the direction of Mr. H. M. Beckman, the manager of the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber yard at Montrose. The main performers were Mr. P. E. Laichinger and his son of Glendale. Mr. Laichinger sang most entertainingly playing his own accompaniments, while his son furnished several instrumental numbers that were highly appreciated. The Laichingers are highly musical and the spontaneity with which they sing and play is very refreshing and brought forth applause that demanded more.

County Superintendent of Schools Mark Keppel gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the proposed LaCanada school bond issue. Attorney Frederick Baker of Glendale and Los Angeles discussed the various amendments to be voted on at the election Oct. 26. Mr. Baker is well informed as to the needs of the state and gave very clear explanations on the important points involved in the amendments.

PUBLICITY IN BUSINESS AFFAIRS

There is in these days a demand on the part of the public for publicity in all business affairs that affect the country at large. The recent prosecution of capitalists accused of wrecking a railroad deliberately and for their own ends shows how impossible such a piece of work would have been had the proceedings of those capitalists been done in the open and not in secret. It is now realized by all reliable business concerns that there should be published whatever of business matters the public is legally entitled to know and also whatever may affect the public interest and may be advertised without detriment to the corporation or individual concerned.

The country believes in publicity and is anxious to have as much light as possible on the affairs of corporations. The officials of a corporation, for instance, are expected to keep the stockholders promptly and fully informed, as far as possible without damage to its current business. They have no right to profit individually to the detriment of other stockholders as the result of information officially obtained. In this respect, however, there has been a great change recently in the attitude of big corporations. Many of them now make regular and complete reports of the results of their business and the general policy of the company. They are also much more complaisant in these days in the matter of giving out information to the press when asked.

Naturally this policy has reacted favorably for the corporations. The public has been more considerate of their rights and has listened more respectfully to the claims of those engaged in great enterprises and has been less inclined to listen to the appeal of the demagogue. Included in this general public is the multitude of wage earners, business men of small means, educators, lecturers and editors, the leading thinkers, writers and public speakers of the country.

When a policy thus favorably influences the public it is not too much to ask of leading corporations that they adopt it. The individual or the corporation that is inclined to publish whatever facts are proper to be known has generally been treated justly. Those who have been deficient, arrogant and secretive have suffered. The great business men in close touch with the general public are striving to work together for the good of all. It is likely under this system that the world will see great and favorable results.

This matter of publicity is equally true when the case of public officials, municipalities, States and governments is concerned. Nothing but good results to a community by the openness of communication between its civic heads of departments and the public. The better they come to know each other personally and the more willing city officials are to give what publicity is necessary to their acts and intentions the better it is for both. The public is entitled to know what public officials are doing and what policies are being considered and enforced, though, of course, it may, and often does happen, that information cannot be given out without injury to the cause involved. At the same time it should never be forgotten that officials of municipalities, States and countries are always wise in confiding in the people at large whatever knowledge they have in their possession.

SCIENTIFIC EXPLANATION OF THE WAR

Among the many attempts either to apologize for the great war, or to explain it, or to throw the blame on some particular nation, comes a scientific contribution to the controversy on the part of Prof. William E. Ritter, director of the Scripps Institute for Biological research in the University of California. Prof. Ritter has just published a remarkable book entitled, "War, Science and Civilization." In this book he advocates an extraordinary proposition which has attracted much notice in Japan.

Prof. Ritter's proposal is that the United States should turn over the Hawaiian Islands to the Japanese, who are struggling to find a breathing place in the world. Ritter is a biologist of some note and it is interesting to find that he regards this subject from a biological point of view. He maintains that it is scientifically justifiable for a nation to wage war for more territory if it feels that its life depends on expansion; but he also states that war is an unscientific method to apply to the difficulty as it destroys most of what it is waged for and furnishes no solution in the end.

Prof. Ritter holds that the cause of such wars as that now devastating Europe is the unscientific distribution of territorial possessions. Some nations have more than they can use; others have less than they need for their development and for the good of the world. According to this authority nature's resources are practically unlimited for man when fully civilized. To seize territory merely to hold it is therefore as foolish as to try to eat all the food in sight.

Then comes the solution of all these troubles, according to Prof. Ritter. Nations must look beyond national boundaries and see the whole race as a unit evolving according to a common plan. To assist this plan and not to hinder it must be the aim of civilized nations. Organization or integration he maintains is as important a part of evolution as disintegration or differentiation. If we do not learn to think and plan for civilization as a whole wars may destroy it.

According to Prof. Ritter, the mad rush of the nations to seize territory in Africa and elsewhere has resulted in an unjust and unscientific distribution. To solve this condition, those that have must give to those who have not. He advocates the giving up of Hawaii to Japan because that country needs territory more than the United States does.

Whatever may be thought of this plan there is no doubt that it contains an element of truth. Before the war in Europe began it should have been possible for a council of nations to have consulted on the conditions in Europe and to have settled equitably the boundaries of the different nations. Germany, multiplying her population and without any place to put them, might have had her "place in the sun" without any fighting.

It is perhaps too much to expect any resort to reason for a long while yet as far as the settlement of international disputes are concerned; but it should certainly be possible and would not be long in arriving were the nations to consider each other's needs in a spirit of justice.

MOONLIGHT PICNIC

PLEASANT EVENING SPENT AT LAZY LONESOME RANCHO

Guests to the number of about one hundred and fifty gathered at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Hartranft, who kept open house from about 3 o'clock last Saturday afternoon until late in the evening. Everything to insure the pleasure and entertainment of their guests had been planned by Mr. and Mrs. Hartranft and their corps of assistants, even to the provision of autos to transfer their guests to and from the ranch. In the evening just as the dusk was lowering the guests gathered around one long festal board that had been placed in the tree-bordered avenue leading from the front of the house. The tables were decorated with baskets of grapes and California holley. All over the place Japanese lanterns twinkled their lights as if to add enchantment to the beautiful scene and at the moment the company were seating themselves the harvest moon rose over the distant mountain and added her radiance to the picture. After a bountiful supper speeches were in order. The first to speak was Mr. Willis S. Abbott of Los Angeles.

Introduced by Mr. Hartranft, Mr. Abbott seemed to think that the people of Littlelands had found the easiest and most interesting solution to the problem of the way back to the land. He said the first time he had visited Littlelands he found the people dancing, the next time they were eating. When, asked the speaker, do they do any work? Other speakers were Rev. W. H. Wieman, Mr. Maxwell, who because he is too fond of grapes, was said to be taking the grape cure. Capt. Hatch was another participant in the program. Mr. Hartranft spoke at some length. He is greatly interested in the improvement of the local roads, that part especially between Littlelands and Montrose. The last speaker was Supervisor Woodley, who with his wife and son were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hartranft. Mr. Woodley spoke on the subject of the bond issue, which he decidedly does not favor. He made some matters concerning the good roads question very clear. He said that quite contrary to the general belief the building of roads does not make work to any extent for the local people because the work is let by contract and done in large measure by machinery. He further stated that the bond issue would not help the local roads as this money is to be used for building new mountain roads and it is the condition of the roads already built that the people want improved and for which the majority are making importunate demands and which are of far more importance at the present time to people in general. After Mr. Woodley's talk the company resorted to the spacious veranda and the living room where a cheerful fire was blazing on the hearth. A musical program was now in order. Mr. Maygrove and two daughters, Misses Dorothy and Gladys, gave a selection, using the piano, ocarina and cornet. They were recalled and responded with an ocarina trio. Miss Kirchner gave two whistling selections, accompanied by her mother. Dr. Buck then sang a solo and Mrs. Dunn rendered some beautiful piano solos. Mr. W. H. Wieman here created a diversion by reading a selection from Mark Twain. Mr. G. I. Maxwell was then ushered into the limelight and so well received was his rendering of a song that he was obliged to respond to an encore. Mr. Thomason accompanied him. Mrs. B. Zachan closed this part of the program by singing two songs in her inimitable way. After this those wishing to dance resorted to the veranda where, directed by Mrs. Woodruff, they formed rank for the grand march, led by Mrs. Hartranft with Mr. Woodley. Afterward sets were made up for the Colonial dances. The dancing continued to near midnight. The occasion was one of pleasure to all participating in the festivities.

The new Chinese minister to Washington, Dr. Koo, was educated at Columbia University and made a very brilliant record there as a student. The United States has reason to be proud of what it has done to develop great men for China.

TROPICO

A dozen ladies who form the Thimble club of the Pythian Sisters met with Mrs. Tiffany yesterday for an all day session. A thoroughly enjoyable time was had as the ladies busily plied their needles in the fashioning of pretty things to be sold at the big bazaar and supper which will be held Nov. 18 in the K. of P. hall, Tropic. Announcement has been made of the coming marriage of Miss Isabel Wood to Mr. Perley Chandler. The ceremony will take place on the 3rd at the home of the bride on Tropic avenue, with only the Wood and Chandler connections and a few intimate friends present. Among the pre-nuptial affairs arranged for Miss Wood is a kitchen shower which Mrs. E. Morgan of Ninth St. is giving tonight, when forty young friends of the bride-to-be will shower her with tokens of their love and good wishes.

Mrs. F. Hammond was hostess at a delightful dinner last Sunday in compliment to her guests, Mr. and Mrs. John Arinson.

A reception will be tendered Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Ford in the Social Hall of the Methodist Church Friday night, Oct. 29. Rev. Ford is the newly appointed pastor and the members and friends of the congregation are cordially invited to welcome him and Mrs. Ford into the community and homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Murry John of Terre Haute, Ind., are the house guests of Mrs. Ella Richardson and Mr. William Richardson is again at home with his mother, after a ten days' visit to the San Francisco fair.

AROUSING THE SLEEPERS

An amazed expression floated over the features of Arthur A. McLean of the New York State Democratic Committee, when the conversation at a social session turned to the trials and triumphs of the hard-working preacher. He said he was reminded of an incident that happened in a western church.

"One evening the good dominie of the aforesaid church was eloquently addressing his congregation on the beauty of sticking to the straight and narrow path, when he suddenly paused, glanced around the room and beckoned to the sexton.

"Jones," said he, as the sexton approached the pulpit, "open a couple of windows on each side of the church, please."

"Beg your pardon, sir," returned the sexton with a look of surprise. "Did I understand you to say to open the windows?"

"Yes," was the cold, hard rejoinder of the dominie. "It is not healthy to sleep in a warm room."—Baltimore Star.

The offer was an ad-to let the horse decide as to the character of our feed. Order a supply and give him enough to permit a proper decision. The Valley Supply Co. will have something very important to tell the public in a short time. It will involve an expenditure of $20,000 or $30,000. and will be a great benefit to Glendale.

LA CANADA

Mr. James T. Penfield of Hillard avenue has been confined to his bed during the past week and is still quite sick.

Mr. W. T. Somes of Homewood avenue, who has been critically ill in a Los Angeles hospital, is reported as being very low, with little hope of recovery.

The good roads bonds was another question of much interest to the valley and those carried in La Canada by a majority, although they were defeated in the state.

The Missionary society of the Congregational church will hold a Halloween social in the basement of the church Saturday evening. There will be an admission charge of ten cents. Everyone is cordially invited.

Mr. Jim Huntington has been confined to his bed for several days with a hard cold, which threatened to turn into pneumonia. He is now able to be out, but he still has some one to do his work in the blacksmith shop.

Word has been received from Mr. A. N. Towne, who has been visiting in the east the past month, that he was married on the sixth of October. Mr. and Mrs. Towne are now visiting in Alabama, but will soon return to La Canada.

The work on the new state road from La Canada to La Crescenta is progressing rapidly. The grading around Duncan hill is nearly completed and the big cut at Reynolds is also nearing completion. The culverts are nearly finished, the stone crusher ready to operate and the section through La Canada will soon be ready for the concrete.

Messrs. John and Albert Kirst with their sister, Miss Barbara Kirst, will go to their ranch in Downey this week where they expect to make their home in the future.

Two cases of mumps were discovered in the schools last week and the children were sent home. No new cases have been reported and it is hoped that there will be no more.

The valley experienced a great deal of excitement Tuesday over the election. The school bonds was the most important question to the valley people and there were representatives for each faction outside of the polling place all day. An unusually large number of voters turned out and the election was extremely close. The bonds failed to carry by two votes, there being 140 votes cast, with 92 in favor of and 48 against the bonds. This shows, however, the real sentiment of the valley people and without a doubt the bonds will carry at a second election if the school trustees decide to have one.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Improvement association held on Saturday evening. Mr. Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, was present and gave a splendid talk on the subject of the bonds to be voted for a new school house. He explained exactly how the taxes would be affected and pointed out the benefits to the valley to be derived from a school house. Following Mr. Keppel's address Mr. Baker, an attorney from Los Angeles, spoke on the amendments to the constitution to be voted on Tuesday, giving his reasons for voting in favor of or against each amendment. It was a great help to those present to get his views on these questions. There was also a musical program given under the direction of H. W. Beckman, manager of the Montrose lumber yards. Piano and vocal solos were beautifully rendered by Philip E. Laichinger and son, Philip Russell Ninde Laichinger of Glendale. The efforts of these gentlemen were so well received by the audience that they responded to enthusiastic encores. These fortnightly meetings are proving very beneficial to all persons who attend them. Chairman Brooks has the characteristics of an able executive officer, and then too he is assisted by a faithful secretary and hard working committees.

Hereafter the editor of the Tri-City Progress promises a more complete report of the social doings in this valley.

Real Estate Prospects

In an interview with the Progress reporter, Joe Hawkins, a La Crescenta realty man, was quite enthusiastic over the real estate situation. He says there have been more inquiries the past two weeks than in the preceding two months. He predicts several early sales in his Oakdale plat. Rentals, too, are picking up.

The Briscoes were old friends and customers of the F. A. Hangers when they conducted a resort in Michigan. While looking over the register, Mr. Briscoe found that Mrs. Janvier of La Crescenta was a long lost cousin, which made his visit all the more interesting.

H. D. Hanger and wife, who are guests at the hotel, are cousins of Mr. Hanger of La Crescenta and are cutting their exposition tours short in order to spend a week or more at this beautiful country resort.

The Loyal Bible Students held their monthly business meeting at the Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening. This is the organized adult Bible class of the Sunday School. The president of the class, Rev. E. M. Lumm, presided. Following the devotional exercises the several committees reported. Mrs. Thomson gave a splendid report of the Sunday School convention. After refreshments an address was given by the president and the following paper was read by Mrs. R. E. Haines:

Music—Its influence and power in the Sunday School.

The influence of music toward good is very strong. This is self-evident to all who play, sing or listen to music or who even have observed how a hymn at the proper time has marked the turning point in the conversion of a soul.

This being true it is of utmost importance what kind of music is being used in our Sunday Schools, what spirit is in it, what feelings and emotions it is producing and what the effect is upon the young hearts.

Take a ragtime where time is broken. "Rag" means shattered, torn. As a garment is a rag when worn out or shattered. See how frivolous, see how foolish it sounds. It is the low element of music clothed in rags and yet there are those who insist on it at all their socials and places where they would not think of wearing rags. Some even think they must have it in their worship, where the dignity of movement comes from its regularity.

Let us keep "ragtime" out of everything, if possible. There is plenty of beautiful, joyous music without the undignified, uncultured, light, frivolous music.

When you hear music, listen. It always has some message. If the time is not good it may have a beautiful melody. So if we have a melody beautiful and dignified, the harmony grand and varied, the effect is wonderful to the ear that can hear and the heart that can understand and feel. This kind of music will tell its own story to the glory of God and the conversion of sinners.

Children love all kinds of music. They love Beautiful Isle, I'll Be a Sunbeam, Jesus Loves Me, There Shall Be Showers of Blessing, and many more like them just as much more than the "ragtime stuff" as they do a new dress or suit more than the old one, if they have been taught right, and future generations will be more appreciative of good music and not spend their time in what is many times a worthless pleasure or degrading pastime. Carlyle said: "See deep enough and you see musically, the heart of nature being everywhere music is, if you can only reach it." Luther said: "Next to theology I give music the largest place and honor. The fairest gift of God, to which Satan is a bitter enemy."

The adult class welcomes to its membership men and women above twenty years of age. This class meets at the church Sunday mornings at 10:30 o'clock and is taught by Mr. D. E. Wetherbee.

Services are held in the church on Michigan Ave. every Sunday. Bible study hour and sermon, 10:30 to 12 o'clock. Y. P. S. C. E., 6:45 o'clock, and evening preaching service at 7:30 o'clock. The Wednesday evening service is held at the homes of the community and is largely attended. All of these services are for everybody. Theodore Hopping, Minister.

THE OTHER WAY ROUND

While out for a walk Pat and Mike saw an animal in a tree.

"Sure, now," said Pat, "I niver saw a rabbit up a tree before."

"That's no rabbit!" replied Mike.

"Faith, thin, and I'll show ye as it is," replied Pat indignantly, as he started to climb the tree.

But that animal was a small and very fierce wildcat, and presently there came to Mike's ears sounds of a wild combat and shouts for help.

"Pat, Pat!" he called out, "shall I come up and help ye catch the beast?"

Above the crashing of breaking branches came a hollow voice, which said:

"Faith, no; but for hiven's sake come up and hilp me let him go!"—London Answers.
